CLAIMS 3, 4, 8, 9, 13-17, 19, 34-36 AND 38-55 ARE PRESENTED FOR EXAMINATION

On September 28, 2006, a request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114.

Applicants' submission filed on September 28, 2009 has been entered.

Allowable Claims

Claims 8, 13, 15-17, 35, 36, 38-40 and 45-53 are deemed in condition for allowance as the Examiner's search of the appropriate data bases found no references which would anticipate or render obvious the claimed subject matter. Further, the claimed subject matter complies with 35 U.S.C. § 112, first and second paragraph.

Claim Rejection - 35 USC § 112, First Paragraph

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 3, 9, 14, 19, 34, 41-44 and 53-55 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for agents which act as therapeutic agents or diagnostic agents, does not reasonably provide enablement for agents which act as prophylactic agents. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims without undue experimentation.

Burden on the Examiner for Making a Rejection Under 35 U.S.C. § 112 First Paragraph

As set forth in In re Marzocchi, 169 USPQ 367, 370 (CCPA 1971):

“[A] [s]pecification disclosure which contains teaching of manner and process of making and using the invention in terms corresponding to the scope to those used in describing and defining subject matter sought to be patented must be taken as in compliance with enabling requirement of first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112 unless there is reason to doubt the objective truth of statements contain therein which must be relied on for enabling support; assuming that sufficient reason for such doubt exists, a rejection for failure to teach how to make and/or use will be proper on that basis, such a rejection can be overcome by suitable proofs indicating that teaching contained in specification is truly enabling.” (emphasis added).

In particular, here, the objective truth of the statement that an agent may act as a prophylactic or preventative is doubted because the term “preventing” or “prophylactic” may be reasonably interpreted as being synonymous with the term “curing” and both circumscribe methods of absolute success. Because absolute success is not reasonably possible with most diseases/disorders, especially those having an etiology and pathophysiological manifestations as complex/poorly understood as stroke, the specification, which lacks an objective showing that stroke can actually be prevented, is viewed as lacking an enabling disclosure of the same.

The Examiner notes that the term “prevent” or “prophylactic” is not necessarily synonymous with “cure”, but such interpretation is proper given that “During patent examination, the pending claims must be ‘given their broadest reasonable interpretation consistent with the specification.’ In re Hyatt, 211 F.3d 1367, 1372, 54 USPQ2d 1664, 1667 (Fed. Cir. 2000). Applicant always has the opportunity to amend the claims during prosecution, and broad interpretation by the examiner reduces the possibility that the claim, once issued, will be interpreted more broadly than is justified. In re Prater, 415 F.2d 1393, 1404-05, 162 USPQ 541, 550-51 (CCPA 1969).” (MPEP § 2111).

Claim Rejection - 35 USC § 112, Second Paragraph

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

“The primary purpose of this requirement of definiteness of claim language is to ensure that the scope of the claims is clear so the public is informed of the boundaries of what constitutes infringement of the patent. A secondary purpose is to provide a clear measure of what applicants regard as the invention so that it can be determined whether the claimed invention meets all the criteria for patentability and whether the specification meets the criteria of 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph with respect to the claimed invention.”, (see MPEP § 2173).

The term “derivative” in claim 4, appearing in the expression “a naturally derived polymer” is a relative term which renders the claim indefinite. In particular, “derived” or “derivative” does not particularly point out the degree or type of derivation that a given compound may have in relation to the parent compound and still be considered a “derived” polymer as intended by Applicants.

Applicants have failed to provide any specific definition for this term in the present specification. Lacking such a definition, the skilled artisan would not be reasonably apprised of the metes and bounds of the subject matter for which Applicants seek patent protection. Rather, a subjective interpretation of the claimed language would be required. However, as such is deemed inconsistent with the tenor and express language of 35 U.S.C. § 112, second paragraph, the claims are deemed properly rejected.

Accordingly, claim 4 is properly rejected.
